1. Please describe this person's greatest strengths as a Instructional Assistant.
Please keep your comments constructive and professional, abiding by the Principles of Community

- A funny and energetic human being that is always willingly to help even past his working hours. A person who is very dedicated to engineering. Will even tutor you on topics from other classes.
- Approachable and knowledgeable
- clear, understanding, resourceful
- Cool IA. Knows what he is doing.
- He is really helpful when it comes to explaining what is going wrong in your circuits.
- He was extremely knowledgeable and helpful.
- Helps a lot after hours, would catch him in envision, and he would always actively look out if I was still doing okay or if I needed some help, his willingness to help makes him a really good TA
- Jay showed a constant sense of confidence in addressing students' uncertainties and was always willing to offer assistance, even beyond regular office hours.
- Jay was so patient with me when I would ask him questions. His ability to clearly outline directions truly was a blessing for this class.
- Jay was very helpful on numerous occasions and helped my team and I solve numerous problems on our robot or previous projects. He is very knowledgeable in ECE and gave confident and correct answers to any issues he encountered with my work.
- Jay's always been a engaging assistant with a great sense of humor.
- Precise, accurate, and quick-witted to help anyone in need. Most of the time he takes one look at your circuit and instantly knows what's wrong.
- Quick to action and gets student's needs or question resolved extremely quickly. When you need more elaboration it is given and concise.

- really fun
- REALLY REALLY helpful
knows what he is doing and comes off as intelligent
- Sheer astounding levels of Intellect, Ability to truly connect with a student's interest with the course, a soft but strong sense of guidance that can easily help most students understand course material and project assignments with ease and above all, a level of down-to-earth attitude that draws in any student's willingness to listen and understand his every word.
- SO passionate. Always willing to help and wanted to solve the issues.
- Super Informative and very helpful
- Super professional, Always solve problem or give out useful advice, patient, friendly.
- This person was very supportive, direct, responsive, and encouraging.
- Very approachable and super helpful.
- Very helpful, will not leave you until you solve the issue together. He teaches you how to approach different problems with trial and error.
- Very knowledgeable and would help in a kind manner!
- Very passionate about helping us setup our computer/program correctly and very knowledgeable.

2. Please describe this person's greatest weaknesses as a Instructional Assistant.
Please keep your comments constructive and professional, abiding by the Principles of Community

- forgot to give our group a part once
- I don't think he had a weakness.
- I wouldn't be able to describe his weaknesses.
- It takes him a while to figure out what's completely wrong with it, however i find this even more engaging as it's another mind to help you find out what's wrong, being able to find it together, instead of knowing what's immediately.
- Jay sometimes would give presentations or tutorials to the class in which he would move slightly too quickly for the pace of the class. I recommend he slow down slightly in his explanations or pause for longer times between small explanations or demonstrations.
- none that stood out to me
- Not that I know of.
- Nothing Im aware of.
- so smart that he doesnt dumb it down for us
- Speaks kind of fast
- This person may seem indifferent to people's concerns at times.

- Too knowledgeable that he speaks too fast.
- Too smart, sometimes I can't catch up what he is saying.

3. Please detail other characteristics of the Instructional Assistant (if applicable).

Please keep your comments constructive and professional, abiding by the Principles of Community

- He consistently demonstrates confidence in his abilities, showcasing a profound sense of assurance in providing assistance to students, particularly when it comes to troubleshooting and debugging.
- Can't believe this guy plays league and not dota. smh
- Good communication skills with students.
- I had an issue with my computer and he made an effort for 2 days to sit down and help me and was able to get my program running.
- One time they were off hours and was still willing to assist me in a project. Helped find an issue that I couldn't have been able to solve myself (part was missing). Very cool
- They tend to be at Envision and it's extremely helpful to just ask and get everything resolved quickly.

4. I would recommend this Instructional Assistant to other students.
